

This game will use your phones front camera. You control your character with your body. These body parts and joints should autofit to your body, check them against your camera feed. If it is not correct drag the parts to the correct place or resize.

next

Tutorial

Practise some of the movements you will be using here and check they are being registered. There will be a pop up to tell you when one is detected, click on one if you want to see an example of the model doing it:

To pick something off the ground or dig - squat

For chopping wood- pretend you're swinging an axe vertically down

For cutting down trees - pretend you're swinging an axe horizontally across

For rowing- put your phone on a wall or something you can pull yourself towards and push yourself back with your legs

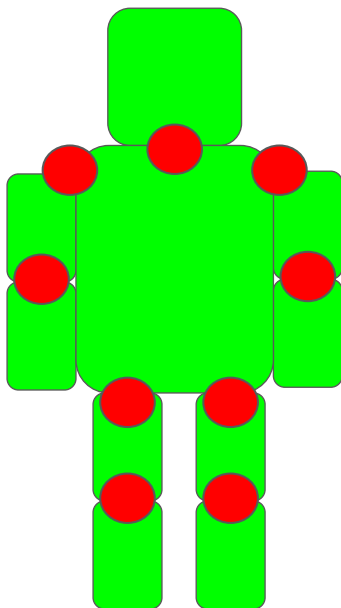

For walking or running - do it on the spot

For swimming- bring one arm up and forwards as you kick one leg out

For riding on something - do a wall sit until you reach your destination (if you take a break you will stop there)

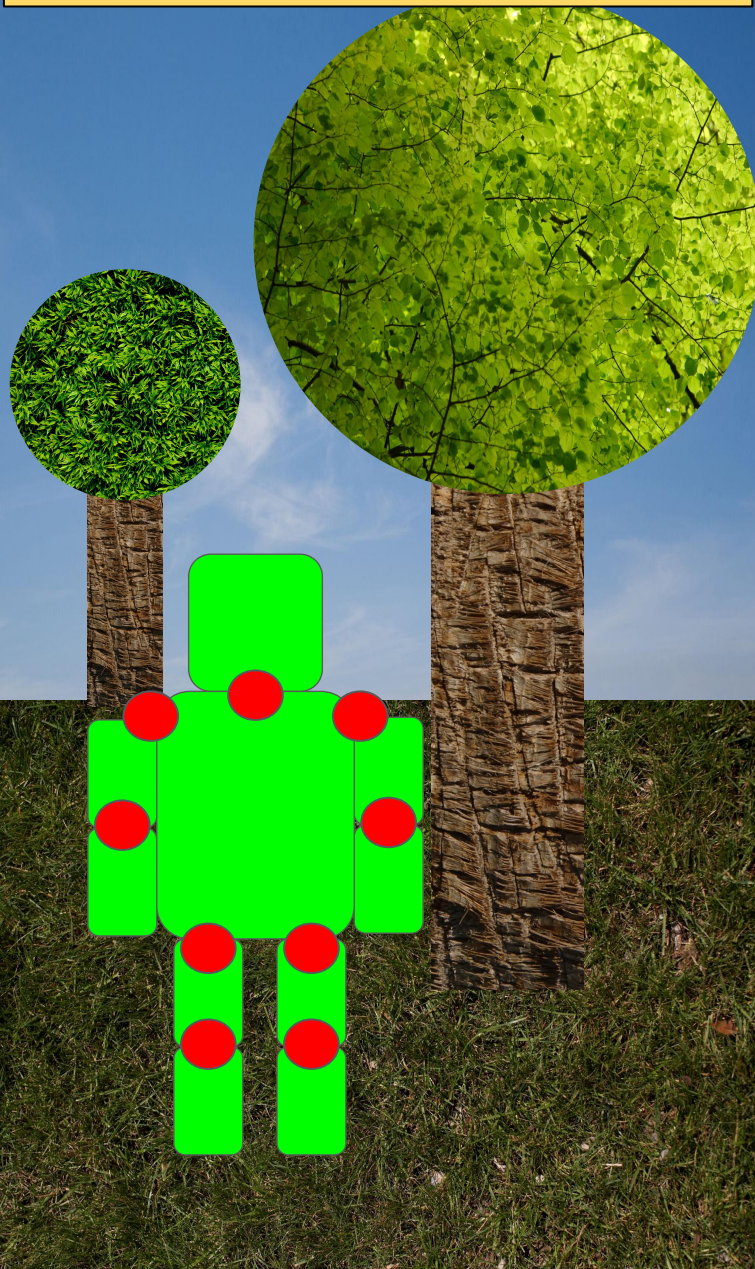

For jester/busker dance - move in time to the beat (1 coin per correct move)

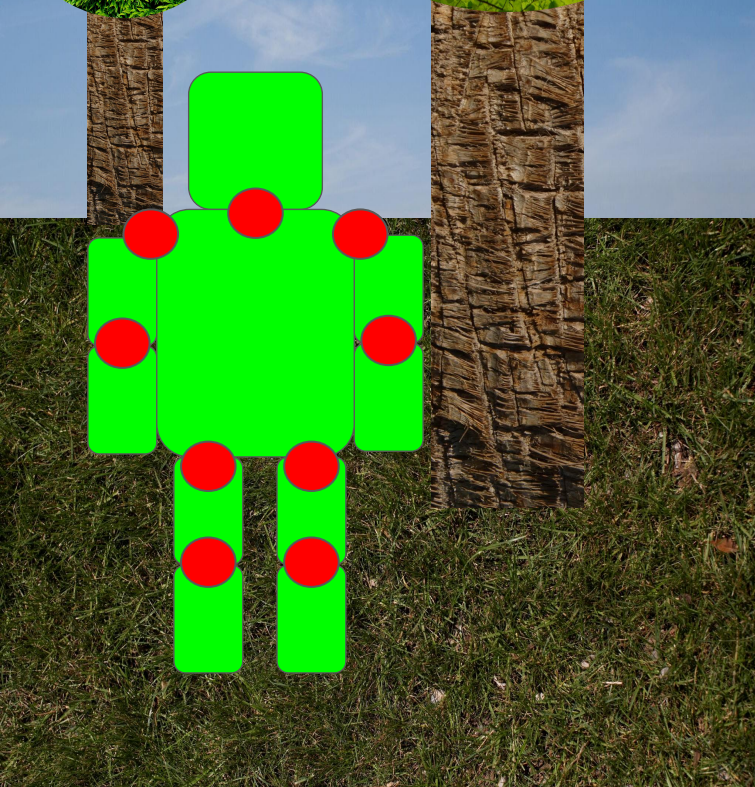

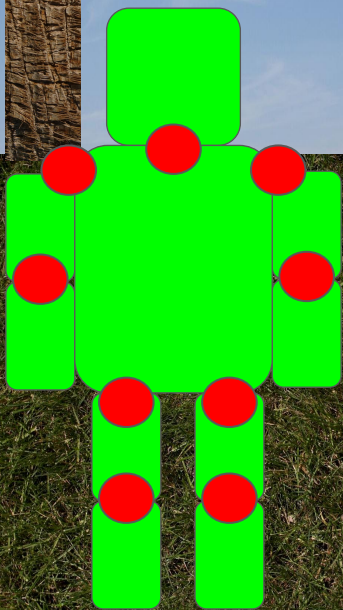

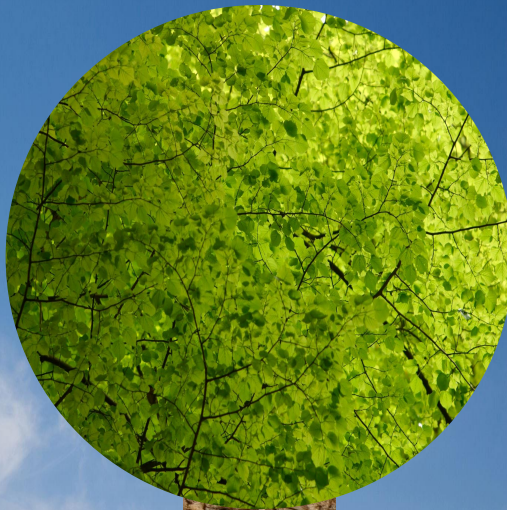

Start game

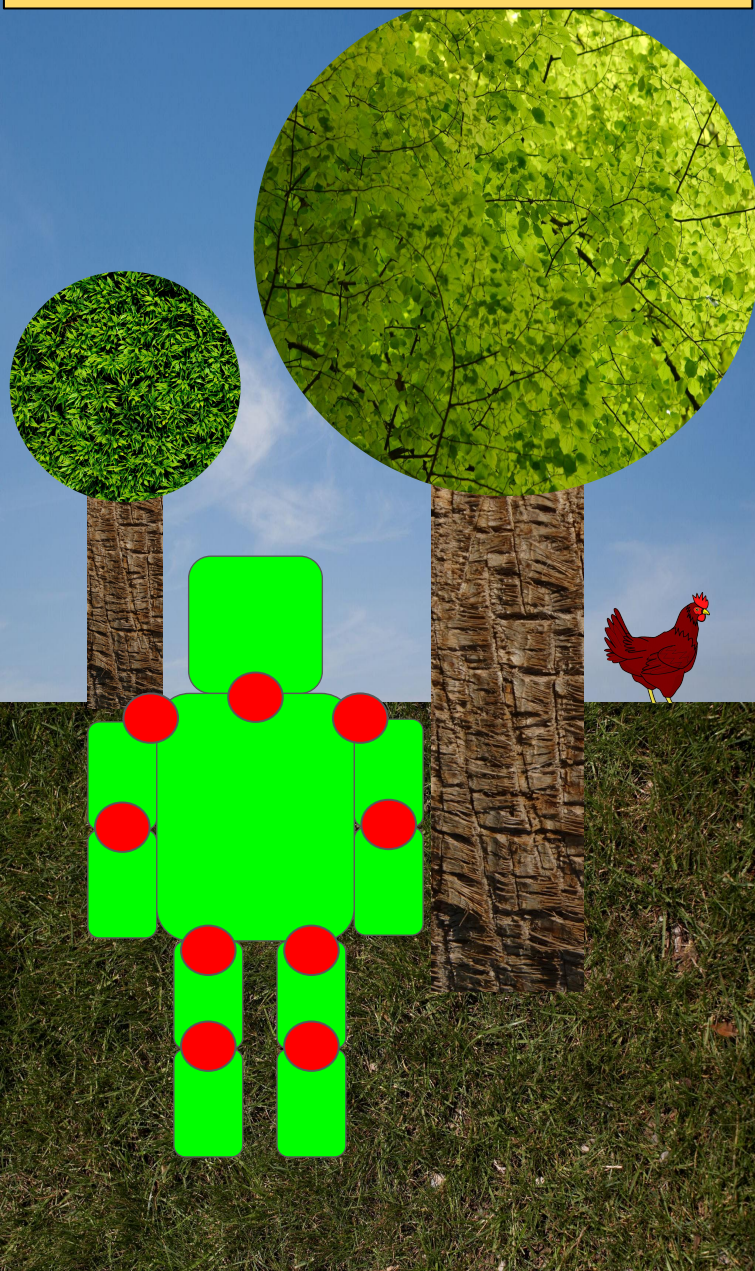

You wake up in a forest, you have no memories or possessions, you find a map tucked into your waistband

You see a chicken in the distance, run to catch it. It will appear larger as you get closer, when you are within reach it will bawk, you can then squat to catch it

congratulations , you have got your first item but you don't have anywhere to put the chicken and now you only have one hand free.
You need something to carry your items in.
check your map to see where you can sell your chicken

Click on where you want to go and start walking, you will get there once you have walked the correct distance. If you get tired you can stop for a rest somewhere in between. You currently only have a small section of a map but as you continue on your adventure you will be able to purchase, earn (some sections may only be available through completing missions) or find lost pieces to expand your map. Click on the map again to shut it and begin your journey.

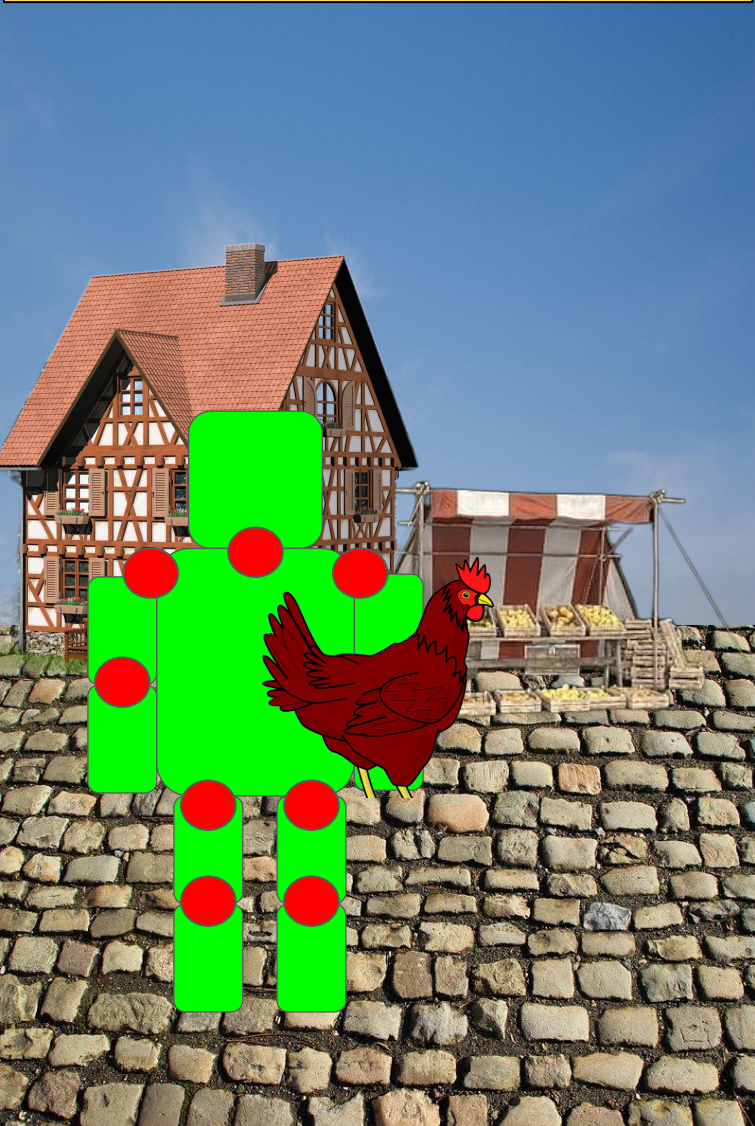

Little village

Wanderers wood

congratulations , you have completed your first journey and reached the little village. You can go to the tavern to find some tasks to complete to earn money or items, or you can go to the market to buy or sell items. Click on the one you want to go to. If you want to come back here after visiting the tavern or market just click on the village on the map

Today we have a quill so you can add landmarks to your map, a selection of bags, an axe, the keys to a house, a donkey if you want to travel faster or pull a plough, and blacksmith equipment if you wanted to forge some tools. Click on an item to see its price. Click on me if you want to sell something.

In the tavern you see an old farmer playing the fiddle. If you like you could dance to the music to see if you can earn a few coins.

After the song is completed the old farmer buys you a mug of mead and compliments you on your dancing. He introduces himself as Fionn Fiddler and you get to talking about your circumstances.

I need a farmhand to help me dig potatoes, you can keep half of what you pick.

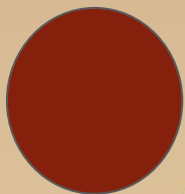

I'll give you a lift in my cart this time but here's the map to direct you to my farm, come back anytime you could use some more spuds. Or if you would prefer something a bit less intense Millie Messenger could always use help to make some deliveries, it'll give you a chance to get acquainted with the area and get to know some neighbours too. You'll even get a tip if you get there quick.

Come find me here anytime you want some work

Little village

Wanderers wood

Fiddlers farm

